

Firm Profile

Paulien & Associates, Inc. has focused on academic and facilities related studies for higher education for over 30 years. Our practice has included over 500 college and university campuses in 44 states, the District of Columbia, and several international institutions. We are currently working on projects in more than a dozen states. Our specialties are in academic and enrollment planning; space needs analysis; classroom, laboratory, and other space utilization; space reallocation/migration planning studies; user surveys; comparative/peer benchmarking; and pre-architectural building programming. We have strong experience including work with research institutions, comprehensive universities, private institutions, and community and technical colleges. Our projects have allowed us to work with many architectural firms around the country and also directly with the institutions in the pre-design phase of their projects.

Our work with leading universities spans the United States. Specifically, our services were sought by Harvard University to provide academic and physical planning benchmarking; Yale University to provide a review of instructional space needs for the social sciences and the sciences; Johns Hopkins University for the space needs study portion of the Homewood Campus master plan and the pre-architectural programming of Hodson Hall, the campus's newest classroom building; the University of Vermont to conduct a campuswide space needs analysis, benchmarking of peer institutions, and projected space needs for science and engineering research; the University of North Carolina to provide space needs at two enrollment levels for each of the colleges of the Chapel Hill Campus; and the University of Virginia to provide space planning in the College of Arts & Sciences.

We have provided planning services and space needs analyses for 200 master plans for colleges and universities. Specifically, we performed a Space Needs Analysis for the Master Plan at Arkansas State University, College of Charleston, and the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

Our firm has a strong emphasis on determining existing utilization of campus facilities and projecting space needs at a target enrollment in support of a physical master plan. We have proprietary software tools that help integrate our findings into the capital improvements relevant to the master plan implementation.

The Paulien & Associates team of experienced college and university planners is led by Daniel K. Paulien, President. Experience of the multi-skilled staff of Paulien & Associates ranges from 11 to 40 years in major planning projects for higher education. In addition to overall planning skills, each of the members of the Paulien & Associates team adds his or her own special expertise to the team's planning work including strategic planning, academic and enrollment planning, facility planning, implementation strategies, development of campus planning projects, and report preparation.
